CASHIER SPEAR AGAIN INDICTED

Charged With Making False Affidavits About Oberlin Bank Funds.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 8.—The United States grand jury has returned an additional indictment against A. B. Spear, cashier of the closed Citizens' National bank of Oberlin, which failed because of Mrs. Chadwick's operations. The additional indictment was returned on account of alleged new facts in connection with the manner in which Spear is said to have made false entries and affidavits about the bank funds. This indictment, it is thought, will enable the government to make a clearer case against Spear. United States District Attorney Sullivan said that Spear's case would be the first to come up at this term of court. The grand jury also returned a joint indictment against Spear and Mrs. Chadwick, in which the latter is charged with aiding and abetting Spear in making false entries. The specific charge against Spear is in making false oath to a report sent to the comptroller of the currency.

CLAIM LEADERS DIVERT FUNDS

DECLARE TITHES ARE $1,000,000

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

Allege That Head of Church Uses Half of This Immense Sum to Smother Competition in Public and Private Enterprises.

Salt Lake City, Utah, April 8.—Alleging that President Joseph F. Smith unlawfully diverts $500,000 annually of the Mormon church funds, C. A. Smurthwaite and Don Carlos W. Musser, members of the quorum of seventy of the church, have filed in the Third district court a petition asking for an injunction to prevent continuation of the practice.

The petition alleges that Smith annually receives not less than $1,000,000 in tithes, bequests and donations from members of the church to be used exclusively for church purposes, and that instead of so applying the money he invests half of it in commercial enterprises in Utah and elsewhere.

Policy Is Attacked.

During the last year various members of the church have expressed dissatisfaction with the commercial policy of the church under Smith's leadership, charging that competition in various lines, notably in the production of salt, sugar and in the handling of public utilities, has been smothered by Smith.

Invests in Many Concerns?

The petition alleges that Smith has invested the funds of the church "to establish estates and residences for the church leaders and their favorites," and in the following concerns: Idaho Sugar company, Salt Lake Knitting company, Utah National bank, Lewiston Sugar company, Utah Light and Railway company; First National bank of Logan, Home Fire Insurance company of Utah, Consolidated Wagon and Machine company, Ogden Woolen mills, Provo Knitting factory, Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company, State Bank of Utah, Zion's Savings Bank and Trust company, Salt Lake and Los Angeles Railway company, Salt Air Beach company, Inland Crystal Salt company, Salt Lake Dramatic association, Union Pacific railway, Deseret News book store.

WHITEHEAD IS AFTER MORMONS

Rock County Senator Introduces Resolution To Stamp Out This Sect.

SATURDAY SESSION NOT A SUCCESS

Capitol Appropriation Bill To Pay Back Claims Of The Capitol Commission Is Presented This Morning.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 8.—Senator Whitehead introduced a joint resolution reciting the open violation of the laws of the land by the Mormon church through its leaders, and calling upon citizens to stamp out the institution. A strong sentiment prevails in favor of passage. Senator Randolph scolded the absent members who voted for a Saturday session and then stayed away. Lack of a quorum prevented transaction of business. The committee on capital and grounds introduced a new bill to cover the power raised by the attorney general, who held that commissioners had no right to draw warrants on the state treasury for capital plan competition prizes. The bill proposes to hand over to the commission the $10,000 appropriated two years ago for preparation of plans. The assembly quatered in the Merton bill to prevent the presence of girls in saloon dances. Fraternal insurance social regulation bill, over which a great fight has been waged, was reported for indefinite postponement. The large number of absent legislators proves that the Saturday sessions are exceedingly unpopular.

Saturday Session

Both houses are holding a Saturday session today. While the members do not take kindly to this strenuousness of continuous legislative application, they inflict it upon themselves as a penalty for the brief vacation they allowed the early part of the week. The excuse for that bit of vacation was the election. Members generally have a plausible reason for demanding that no sessions be held Saturdays or until late in the evening of Mondays. They declare with much reason that they need a chance at least once in two weeks, and preferably every week, to go home to their constituents and advise with them regarding matters of legislation about which the "people of my district" never heard before. Some members are heard to remark that they feel greatly the weight of responsibility resting upon them and are reluctant to discharge the duty of passing on each bill until they can discuss them with the leaders of their constituencies. Some of the most substantial members declare that they are gratuitously serving the state and that they must have some opportunity "just to glance" at their own business affairs once a week so as to keep in touch and not be compelled to enter the bankruptcy court as soon as the legislature adjourns. While this, of course, is not quite general that they should not work close up to Sunday, in order that they may have some time for their own business. Exceptions to this rule are some of the members from the extreme northern counties of the state, who cannot go home over Sunday because of the great distance. However, there are likely to be Saturday sessions usually from now until adjournment, which will be probably some four weeks hence.

POINTS DANGER IN CORPORATIONS

Judge Grosscup Addresses Railway and Trust Representatives.

MUST SUBMIT TO SUPERVISION

Jurist Declares Concerns in Which Capital is Matted Must Consent to National Regulation and Control of Their Affairs.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 8.—Judge Peter S. Grosscup of Chicago was the guest of honor and principal speaker at the annual dinner of the Traffic club here Friday evening.

The Chicago jurist dealt in plain talk. He told his 475 hearers, most of whom were railway and trust representatives, that the tendency of the great corporations today was to defy the law and to claim full liberty of action unrestrained by law. This, he declared, the people ought not and would not consent to. He declared that the trusts must submit to national supervision, regulation, and control, just as do banks, trust and insurance companies. He said in part: "We are now well into the fifteenth year since the American people started out, through the Sherman act and the several state anti-trust acts, to destroy the so-called trusts."

Some Trusts Still Defiant.

"Some of them have voluntarily come back to the highways of the law. Some have never departed from those highways. Some are still at large. But none that I can recall have been destroyed."

"The reason of this is not far to see. A corporation is only the individual multiplied. The so-called trust is nothing but the corporation enlarged. In these days when enterprises have grown so large that no single individual can launch them, or keep them going, the only industrial expedient that civilization has yet found of massing and co-ordinating the wealth of the many in one management, unless we accept socialism as a workable means, is the corporation. Socialism has yet to prove itself; so that the corporation is civilization's sole and only way of wielding large masses of capital. As such, it has many times said, the corporation is here to stay."

Tells of Over Capitalization.

"But there is no need in all this, that we should conclude there is nothing wrong—that the public sense that there is something wrong is without foundation. The corporation is here to stay, but not to sit aside all the industrial and commercial laws of the past."

"I know of one corporation that organized recently under the laws of New Jersey with an authorized capital of $40,000,000. For some reason this must have looked, rich even to the pro-motors, for only $10,000,000 were issued. After a little while these $10,000,000 were reduced to $2,000,000, whether from some scruple of the stockholders or some business expedient I do not know. All I do know is that a little while after that the corporation landed in bankruptcy court, with assets all told of $25,000."

No Right to Disdain Law.

"How long, I ask you, my fellow Americans, tonight, ought such a sham corporation policy to be tolerated? How long will we go on blindly setting upon practices, such as these, the great seals of our commonwealths? Are we willing, as a people, to go on indefinitely, alders and abettors of iniquity?"

"Men sometimes talk of corporate reforms as interference with industrial liberty. Who proposes to interfere with industrial liberty?"

"Whence comes this claim of liberty unrestrained by law; this right to disdain law; this right to disdain the rights of others; to disdain decency; to entrap the honest corporate enterprise of this country into a seeming affiliation with dishonesty and fraud?"

Defines Corporations.

"In these days the corporation is nothing less than the prevailing, the dominant medium of proprietorship of nearly the whole of the country's industries. Is not the nature and character of the proprietorship of the country's industries a matter of national concern? Already this proprietorship comprises nearly one-third of the country's wealth, and two-thirds of the wealth that by reason of its occupation is most constantly in the public eye. Has the nation no concern in determining whether this vast interest, rapidly growing vaster, and lying close to all the nerve centers of our political life, shall engage the interest and loyalty of the people generally, or only a limited number of people?"

Advocates Supervision.

"But you ask me, How can the course of things as they are now going be changed? How can the individual man be brought back into proprietorship?"

"My answer is: Take the corporation at once and forever out of the list of suspects. Put the corporation, as national banks and trust companies are put, under the supervision and control of the law."

"Make it impossible to capitalize corporations at figures that can have no purposes other than that of artificial and temporary inflation—an inflation that collapses leaving the victims holding the bag."

PLAN BANQUET FOR APRIL 20

ANNUAL MEETING OF JUNIOR DEPARTMENT OF Y. M. C. A.

CLOSE BASKETBALL SEASON

Will Review Successful Year—Team Is Yet Unbeaten—League Contests.

With the close of the basketball season and the near approach of warm weather and time for outdoor athletics the thoughts of the members of the junior department of the Y. M. C. A. naturally turn toward track work, baseball and camping. There is a prospect a basketball team to represent the department and a league composed of teams made up from the members though no definite step in this direction has as yet been taken.

Successful Season.
The past winter has been a most successful season in both basketball and gymnastic work and hours achieved will be celebrated by a banquet Thursday evening, April 20. At this time there will be held the annual meeting and election of the board of managers and officers of the organization of the department. The program has not yet been settled upon but a review of the basketball season, in the way of a record of games, teams and individual scores will be given.

All Victories.
The basketball record of the first team has been most bright, four games having been played and won. The five players were: Elmer Dreyer (captain), Roger Cunningham, Stewart Richards, Sterling Campbell and Elsworth Strang. They twice defeated the team of the boys' club of the Trinity church, once by a score of 24 to 9 and on the other occasion by a score of 27 to 14. The intermediate team of the Janesville association also fell victims of the Juniors in a game and in the last contest played by the Junior five they defeated the team of the Baraboo association in the dusk, beating them by a score of 28 to 23. This game gave them practically first place in their class in Wisconsin. The Baraboo team having defeated the Milwaukee railroad Y. M. C. A. and the Waukesha association fives, the generally conceded strong aggregations.

League Games.
Four basketball fives have been played through the winter for the championship of the department and the schedule was completed last Saturday, resulting in the award of the laurels for the year to Captain Cunningham's "Blues," who were victorious in five games and defeated in but one. The members of this team were Cunningham, Held, Griffiths, Palmer, Lee, Hemming and French. The "Reds" under the captaincy of Elmer Dreyer took second place with a record of four victories and two defeats. The "Reds" were comprised of Dreyer, Campbell, Sailer, Meisner, Echlin, Wilkinson and Fife. The "Yellows" under Richards, were beaten four times and winners twice, taking third rank. Their team was made up of Richards, Greene, Chase, Kingman, Tippet, Boncke and Kimball. Campbell, Sailer, Meisner, Echlin, the bottom of the list with but one victory and five defeats. The players on Strang's team were: Murphy, Koch, McGowan, Hogan, Myhr, Dunwiddie and Yahn.

HER COMPOSITIONS SUNG BY BISPHAM

Musical Leader and Concert-Goer Pays Flattering Tribute to Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond.

"Dispham-Bond Recital" is the caption of the leading article in the latest issue of the Musical Leader and Concert-Goer, which is a regular and welcome visitor at the Gazette's exchange table. The comment is of particular local interest owing to the fact that Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond, co-recipient with David Bispham of the Pulitzer prize, is a former well-known resident of Janesville.

"The New York singer and the Chicago composer, who were heard in a recital at Music Hall, Fine Arts Building, Sunday afternoon, were responsible for two of the pleasantest hours enjoyed by a metropolitan musical audience this season. David Bispham never did a more gracious nor kindly act of recognition than when he elected to present to her home people Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond's songs in the manner they should be sung. These songs are absolutely different to the things we usually hear and a relief after most of the complexities of musical genius.

"Several were redemanded and given a second time, and herein showed Bispham the artist. Apparent was the careful attention to detail that is shown in all his greatest work. No operative role had received more delicate treatment than that given to the phrasing of Mrs. Bond's songs, and although the second time differed from the first manner of singing, it only served to show that the singer had thought out the matter of interpretation very thoroughly. But which charmed the more it would be difficult to tell. Mrs. Bond played the accompaniments daintily and with charming expression, and was most warmly applauded. The singer and the songs were received with nothing short of an ovation, but after the encore following the close of the second group Mr. Bispham, contrary to all precedent, courteously but firmly declined for himself, and then, leading Mrs. Bond to the piano, intimated that the composer would now sing. This she did in her unique half speaking, half singing manner, and her three children's songs were among the best things heard. The audience insisted upon her another, and the clever, versatile woman gave infinitely one of her little stories, which had "Home" for its subject. Her success throughout the afternoon was unbounded, and brought Carrie Jacobs Bond to a position in Chicago (her home city) that she has already gained in London and New York."

PROGRAM FOR THE CHAUTAUQUA

ARRANGEMENTS OF THE PROGRAM COMMITTEE COMPLETE.

THE SPEAKERS SELECTED

Many Top Notchers Are Scheduled to Appear During the Ten Days' Session.

At a meeting of those interested in the coming Janesville Chautauqua held last evening at the Myers hotel a program consisting of between sixty and seventy-five entertainments for the ten days from July 28th to August 6th was talked over. Chautauqua Director Holbrook was instructed to go ahead with his plans for the program and make arrangements for the housing of the expected guests during the Chautauqua. He left for Chicago this morning to complete his plans and will return next Wednesday to consult with the committee of the association here, at which time the program will be definitely settled.

The Top-Liners
Among the top-liners in Chautauqua work who may appear here during the ten days' session are Mrs. John A. Logan, the widow of the late Gen. John A. Logan, one of the greatest women speakers under the lecture platform today, who will open the course and at the invitation of the management of the association all the members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. will be admitted free of charge with their families; Father L. J. Vaughan, the wonderful Catholic priest whose lectures on Shakespeare have excited world-wide talk, is to deliver two lectures, one on "Sermons From Shakespeare" and the other on "Shakespeare"; Miss Marie C. Brehm will deliver her temperance talk; and Herbert Leck Cope, the great humorist, will give three lectures.

Other Entertainments
Dr. Roland Dwight Grant will have the morning hour, at ten o'clock, during the entire ten days except Sunday, when special church services will be held. His talks will be on "Nature." On the first Friday of the Chautauqua Dr. Grant will deliver his famous talk on "Snakes in Paradise." Henry Clark gives one lecture, Robert Parker Miles a lecture and a sermon, and Denton Crowl his dramatic character study, Col. David Crockett of Tennessee.

In Lighter Vein
The lighter vein is not forgotten. Alfred C. Fiske is to give seven entertainments with his moving picture machine and this includes his wonderful descriptive lecture on "Baby Days." In the musical line Ferguson's Dixie Jubilee singers are here for four days. Then comes the Chicago Ladies' Lyceum quartette with Eddie Palmer as reader, for three days; and the Herron sisters, who appeared this last winter at the Y. M. C. A., for the remaining three days. Mr. Arthur Middleton of New York, the basso, is also down for one of Morgan's entertainments, and the Mophel and Stevenson Novelty company for two days. Ross Crane, the famous entertainer who can make a piano talk and rag ball, actually artistic, comes for two days.

Sale of Tickets
The sale of season tickets has progressed rapidly and nearly eight hundred of the required twelve hundred seats have already been subscribed and the rest will go quickly. The Chautauqua will be a boon to Janesville and those holding the coveted season tickets will not be obliged to pay the separate admission tickets of twenty-five cents for each separate admission. Only twelve hundred of these season tickets are to be sold and the money thus obtained will be used for the program solely.

GAMBLING STOPS DOWN IN ROCKFORD

No More Dice Shaking for Cigars in the Illinois City—No Machines.

Because a Chicago traveling man had a "run of luck" in shaking dice for cigars with a pretty girl behind the cigar counter in a Rockford hotel, and a series of incidents which followed, every dice box in the cigar stores, restaurants, and hotels went into retirement on a police order last night. Starting a game with the cigar counter maid, the drummer continued until he had won a box of cigars. The game went on until the traveling man had something like $107 in cigars coming to him. Horrified by her losses, the girl referred settlement to the manager. Some doubt as to the legality of the Chicagoan's game was expressed, a blow or two struck, and the lucky man was arrested. He convinced the chief that he had a good reputation and did not carry loaded dice, and was released. The hotel is said to have settled with the drummer on the basis of 70 cents on the dollar, and disposed of his cigars to grocery and drug stores.

DIRECTORS OF ODD FELLOWS' HOME ASK FOR AN ADDITION

To the Home in Green Bay—James A. Fathers Attended Recent Meeting.

The Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows at the Janesville meeting in Milwaukee will be asked to take favorable action on the recommendation of the directors of the Wisconsin Odd Fellows' Home association for the construction of an additional building on the site of the institution at Green Bay. The request was determined upon at a recent meeting of the directors in the northern city, which was attended by James A. Fathers of Janesville. The steady increase in the number of applications for admission to the home makes an addition to its accommodations absolutely necessary if the work is to be carried on as heretofore.

His successor has not been announced, though George S. Marsh, first assistant general passenger agent, and Henry T. Griffin, assistant general passenger agent, have been mentioned for the place. Mr. Miller says that it would be the policy of the Milwaukee road to gradually lessen the Sunday excursion business until it was eliminated.

The Pioneer limited train, among the most expensive operated by any railroad in the world, are to be entirely rebuilt by the Milwaukee road, and the two first cars of the new order, the "Portage" and the "Hiawatha," have just been turned over to the company, both to be used between Milwaukee and Minneapolis. The "Portage" went into commission Tuesday night and the "Hiawatha" made its initial trip Thursday night. They replace the "Ewaya" and the "Napawin," which are new sleeping cars, but not quite up to the high standard which the road has set for its crack train. Other cars are being built at Dayton, O., and as fast as they are completed will be turned over for use on the train.

A feature of the new equipment will be the composition, cars which will soon be placed on the rear of each of the trains. They have large observation ends, side corridor and compartments for smoking room, buffet, and cafe, and a ladies parlor. The ladies' parlor will be at the observation end of the car, at the opposite end from the smoking compartment.

All the new cars are to be in service by early summer, when it is expected that the train will be run in two sections, as its business has been growing so heavy that it is almost impossible to keep the train intact and maintain the schedule. From ten to fourteen cars are now taken out on the train nightly.

The next convention of the International Association of Railway Ticket Agents may be held in Milwaukee. L. C. Boyle, agent of the Milwaukee road at Virgo, will be the Wisconsin delegate, and he has said he will secure the meeting for Milwaukee. Acting Secretary Samuel H. Wallace of Philadelphia says that no other cities have appeared for the convention and that Milwaukee will have first consideration. About 200 delegates usually attend its sessions.

W. H. Underwood, who has just been appointed assistant general passenger agent of the Michigan Central road, with headquarters at Chicago, received a large loving cup from the members of the Transportation club at Buffalo, just before leaving that place for Chicago. At Buffalo he occupied the position of general eastern passenger agent for the road.

Positive denials are made by the New York Central that any such idea has ever been entertained to combine with the Union Pacific.

Engineer Ward of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad has broken a record on the Eastern Iowa division of that road by driving his engine from Clinton to Boone, a distance of 202 miles, in 188 minutes.

YOUR MONEY WORKS It Makes a Fortune Before You Realize It.

IDLE MONEY MADE ACTIVE

Small Monthly Savings Will Bring Independence If Judiciously Placed.

ACTUAL FACTS, NOT THEORIES

BE INDEPENDENT.

Earn your money by honest labor and learn to save a portion of it each month. If you are earning $40, $50, $75 or $100 per month manage to lay aside $5, $15 or $25 each month. Do not spend all you earn. You will never get ahead in this world if you do. Be independent, get a move on you, brace up, be a man among men.

Make up your mind to have something, save your money, make a deposit in your bank every month. Now then, when you have $50 or $100 ahead invest it wisely in some good enterprise. Get your money to work for you night and day.

Perhaps some of you have been saving and have a nice little sum laid aside not earning you anything at all except 3 or 5 per cent. You can never get rich this way. Why, at 4 per cent it takes a dollar 25 years to earn another dollar. I say you must invest your money to have the principle grow. Suppose a farmer keeps his potatoes in the cellar and does not plant them in the ground. What does he get? A lot of sprouts but no potatoes. Invest your money in land, copper and gold mines, lead and zinc mines. Yes, growing rubber. Investigate and see that the companies are genuine. Deal with honest men and your money will grow.

A few weeks ago I advised you to buy stock or shares in the Great Western Mining Co. of California. Some took my advice and made money and some of you were afraid. I would say to you that the smelter at the Great Western Mines is in full operation turning out nearly 55,000 daily and no stock for sale. Estimates are $150,000 to $200,000 the first 30 days. This stock was offered you for 10c per share. I offered you Amazon Mining Co. stock at 25c per share, and you did not buy because you were afraid. Two smelters are running now and the stock is worth $1.00 per share, and will soon pay a dividend. Remember this, I offer you first class investments or none. Now I offer you another very valuable stock. The Highland Gold Mining Co. of Oregon at 25c per share, and will soon be off the market and then you cannot get it at any price.

The Highland is a well developed mine and paid for and has over $1,000,000 worth of ore blocked out and in sight. They have a 75-ton testing mill in operation earning $500 daily on low grade ore. This mill was merely put in operation to test the ore before erecting the large mill this spring. A large mill of 200 or 300 tons capacity will be erected early this season and will be running full blast early this fall and will pay large dividends. 100 to 150 per cent on your money invested yearly at 25c per share.

Now this is no guess work. I have made a careful and conservative estimate.

The 75-ton mill is earning money now to erect the large mill, also stock sold goes for same purpose and developing. The last news received was that everything was running smoothly and getting ready to erect large mill and stock soon to be taken from the market.

Now is the time to invest your money in the Highland mines for it is not a prospect. It is a well developed mine and your money is as safe as government bonds. The time is past when mining investments are regarded as uncertain. Science and mechanical skill have combined to render them as safe as mortgage bonds, when the same care is exercised in making an investment.

I also advise you not to put all your money into one proposition, but put it into several safe investments. For No. 2 I recommend the Wisconsin Rubber Co., of Madison, as a sure and safe investment and I think it is one of the best rubber plantations to be found in Mexico. We all know that rubber is in great demand and is used in a thousand and one different ways and the growing of rubber is very profitable and will pay very large dividends. 'Tis said that from one acre of rubber trees 7 or 8 years old that they should yield from $250 to $300 profit, and is considered worth 1000 dollars per acre. Anyone who can save $2.50 per month can carry one share or one acre of rubber. If you can save $5.00 per month you can buy 2 acres of rubber, and so on. The writer is carrying ten shares and receives a dividend last year 14 per cent on money invested. That is better than 3 or 6 percent, is it not? Now you can do the same as I if you will be willing to invest your money. Some of you people carry your money around in your pocket so long that it wears a hole in the pocket and away it goes. Little Jan, lead and zinc mine of Placerville, 15c share, bright prospect. Cast your bread on the waters and it will return to you again ten-fold. Do not let these golden opportunities pass your notice without making an investment in the above safe and profitable propositions. Just this I want to say to you, remember: There is only one way to make a fortune. It is getting money to work for you. First earn, then save and invest wisely in an enterprise that will pay big profits. No other business offers better opportunities for enormous profit than legitimate mining and growing rubber.

Now you have read my story and if you expect to be benefited at all you must send me your money. Buy Highland stock at 25c before it is taken from the market. Write me for circulars on rubber stock. It will only cost you one cent. Don't wait, do it now. Ring up 775, new phone. Stop me on the street when you see me. Enough said.

SOFT, GLOSSY HAIR.

It Can Only Be Had Where There Is No Dandruff.

Any man or woman who wants soft, glossy hair must be free of dandruff, which causes falling hair. Since it has become known that dandruff is a germ disease, the old hair preparations, have been abandoned, and the public, barbers and doctors included, have taken to using Newbro's Herpicide, the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ. E. Dodd, Dickinson, N. D., says: "Herpicide not only cleanses the scalp from dandruff and prevents the hair falling out, but promotes a new growth. Herpicide keeps my hair very glossy. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich."

NEWS FOR THE
PLAY-GOERS

Stetson's colossal "dramatic and scenic production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is at the Myers Grand today, matinee and night. This production far surpasses that of last season in every particular and will be the best seen here. Special attention has been given to the staging of the piece, and several scenic effects are said to be magnificent.
The thrilling floating ice scene on the Ohio River, St. Clair's plantation with house and garden by moonlight and the cotton fields beyond, and the superb transformation scene at the end of the last act are among the greatest. One of the largest organizations of white and colored artists ever gathered together in one combination has been engaged by Mr. Wm. Kibbel for this season, everyone of whom was selected for his or her adaptability for the part assigned. A clever quartette of colored singers adds materially to the

Germany and Austria. They have absolutely no price, and absolutely no business basis. They ask one man 1000 marks for an instrument when they will gladly sell it for half the amount. Such a thing as a price list or catalogue is unknown to them and consequently, an unsophisticated stranger is at their mercy.
The public can form no idea of the demand that exists for Italian violins.
It is simply marvelous, and you will see before long specimens by third and fourth class makers that now are worth from fifty to one hundred pounds each, bringing the price of Guarneris and "Strads" today. It is bound to come. People who have money are bound to have fine old violins and will pay fabulous prices to get them. The appreciation of the violin is growing every day in this country, and numberless young ladies are now studying it in preference to the piano, and inasmuch program by a number of high-class specialties. Col. Sawyer's prize pack of genuine Siberian bloodhounds, a lot of beautiful Shetland ponies, trick donkeys, etc., are also with this great combination. The street parade has two bands of music; a number of gorgeous chariots, tubicun wagons and little carriages, built at a large outlay of money, making this the finest free street parade ever given by any similar company. Taken as a whole, it is an entertainment that can be enjoyed by young and old, and parents should gratify children in their desire to witness what will be to them a pleasure long to be remembered.

Raymond Hitchcock has a fad that is not generally known. The Yankee Consul is a collector of old violins, and is the proud owner of a rare assessment of instruments, some of which were used by the old masters and are almost priceless. In his travels he has visited all the principle cities of the world. So far he has not been able to pass a store in which second hand musical instruments are offered for sale. By long and careful study he has become a connoisseur of old violins and can tell at a glance whether the instrument offered for sale is genuine or not. It is a difficult matter to get the great connoisseur to talk upon his favorite of the dishonesty of dealers when an imitation Stradivarius was shown to him a few days ago.

"I do not think," he said, "a more unscrupulous set of men exists any-

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

Two republicans stood on the corner

last Wednesday morning discussing the result of the election. One of them said:

"Well, I wonder if the Municipal League is satisfied now, that it can't run the city. I belonged to the league two years ago and have been a republican all my life, but I voted the democratic ticket yesterday, and I don't care who knows it." The other replied:

"That's my sentiment to the letter. If the republican party wants my support in a city election it must cut loose from reform and nominate men for office who are not looking for trouble."

This sentiment, so candidly expressed, represented the attitude of 500 republican voters, who either shirked responsibility by staying away from the polls last Tuesday, or who voted the democratic ticket.

This lack of loyalty to the party, and loyalty to principles as well, is one of the popular weaknesses of the age. Men pride themselves today on independence of thought and action, and party lines are ignored on the slightest pretext.

The question of loyalty is seldom considered and the fact is ignored that reforms within the ranks of a party can only be accomplished by united action.

This same spirit of disloyalty is manifest in other fields outside the realm of politics, and the home, the church, society and the industrial world suffers in consequence.

One night last week half a dozen boys and girls sat on the steps of a ward school building. The hour was close to midnight and the little group, all under 15 years of age, should have been at home long before.

One of the girls said to a companion, "Does your mother know you're out?" and the reply was, "I don't care if she does."

There was an air of reckless abandon and daredevil impudence about the little company which spoke of disloyalty to the home and home restraint.

There was a time within the memory of middle aged, as well as elderly people, when the judgment of the father and mother directed the child until the age of reason was attained, and when the boy or girl was too old to govern, by enforced restraint, there was something to appeal to,

and the critical period in child life, between the ages of 15 and 20, was safely bridged.

But that time has largely passed, and as a result scores of boys become street loafers and amateur gamblers long before they are out of their teens, while a multitude of girls invite the loss of both reputation and character through disloyalty to the home.

Society as it is constructed today is largely responsible for these conditions. The home has lost much of its charm and sanctity, because in many instances it has ceased to be a refuge.

The afternoon club and absence of the mother from the evening meal, has transformed the twilight hour from the pleasantest period of the day, when the family circle was complete for a brief respite after the conflict of the day, to an hour of unrest, and the children are hustled off to bed without the good night kiss and gentle ministrations which mean

so much to the home.

It is not at all surprising that the girl and boy, a few years later, find ready excuse to escape from such surroundings, or that the husband seeks congenial companionship for the evening.

The modern society home is more or less of a travesty, and the coming generation suffers in consequence.

The church is not immune from conditions which exist today and sacred obligations were never more lightly regarded. A spirit of unrest possesses the world of theological thought, and the old landmarks have lost much of charm and stability.

It was safe to assume 25 years ago that the church of the fathers would, in large degree, be the church of the children. But this is no longer true. There are many homes where the church life is practically extinct.

The country has reached an age of independent thought and action, and so far as religious thought is concerned it is extremely doubtful whether present conditions are an improvement on the old regime.

The old blue laws of New-England are regarded as puritanical and fanatical, and yet the fact remains that whatever the nation possesses in the way of stability on questions both moral and religious, is largely due to the good seed planted and so carefully nurtured by the forefathers.

The industrial and political worlds are so closely allied that many interests are mutual. Prosperity for the masses and good government go hand in hand, yet in these days of revolution and evolution both realms are disturbed as never before.

Classes are arrayed against classes and in the hot discussions going on in all parts of the country the fact is overlooked that a large percentage of the population of this intelligent land is dependent for comfortable existence upon the men who possess the brain and ability to successfully conduct great enterprises.

The government must own the railroads, and the cities the public service utilities. Why? Not because an intangible thing composed of the people and known as the government can handle these utilities better or more economically than the men now in possession, but because of jealousy inspired by crafty leaders.

The governor of a state addressed

2,000 workmen in a manufacturing city, on the eve of election. One of the large employers was a candidate for office and the men were advised to vote against him. Why? Not because he was incompetent but because he had been successful.

This is the kind of damnable heresy that is cursing the industrial and political world. Men are like sheep in many respects. Ever ready to follow a leader who promises something for nothing. The class of people who are looking for this kind of a living today is unusually large.

But, some one says: what are you going to do about it? Nothing, except to point out conditions as they exist. Majorities rule, and the majority of public sentiment is the controlling force everywhere. The day will come when Janesville, as well as other cities, will be governed by principle rather than prejudice, and in the brighter light of a better intelligence the home, society, the church and the nation, will share in the benefits.

THE PRESIDENT AND RAILROADS.

The President addressed the Texas legislature a few days ago. Among other good things, he said:

"On the whole there have been few instruments in the economic development of the country which have done more for the country than the railroads.

"Most emphatically we can not, as good Americans, bear hostility to an rich man as such any more than an poor man as such. My experience has been that the man who talk over loudly of his hostility to corporate wealth can not be trusted to ac-

quite the way he talks.

"I should absolutely refuse to be a party to any measure that interfere with the proper and legitimate property of those men (managers of railroads); and I should feel that such a measure was aimed, not only at them but all of us, for an attack upon the legitimate prosperity of any of us in the long run sure to turn into an attack upon all."

This defines the President's position on railroads and corporations.

He favors correcting abuses without confiscation. The corporations have nothing to fear from the white house.

Kansas, Dakota, Minnesota and

Wisconsin are on the list as radical states. Kansas wants an oil refinery, Dakota a twine factory, Minnesota will go into the harvester business, and Wisconsin wants the car.

Reform covers a multitude of wants.

The Janesville chautauqua will be a success if everybody lends a helping hand. It is a good thing for the city and comes at a season of the year when people can enjoy it. Don't kick, but boost.

Chicago has captured an elephant.

Now what will the city do with it?

Traction companies are expensive play things.

The city of Sloughington has voted to buy the waterworks plant. That will prove an expensive investment.

PRESS COMMENT.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Of course

our democratic friends will get over the idea that Oshkosh is going all to smash just because a republican mayor has been elected.

Milwaukee Sentinel: Pugilist Jeffries thinks no heavyweight champion should fight a "coon" for the title—especially when the "coon" happens to look like a hard proposition.

Rockford Register-Gazette: An Arkansas man has been hanged for killing a sewing machine agent. The next thing we know, it will be dangerous to kick out a book agent.

Cincinnati Commercial: More divorces last year in the United States than in all the rest of the world.

Something of a paraphrase of the Kentucky State motto, and suggests,

"Disunited we stand."

Evansville Review: Last week it was thought and hoped that our police court would resume business at the old stand, and chief of police,

Broughton, endeavored to do his share in the work, but did not succeed. He followed the thieves, which broke into the department stores here, as far north as Baraboo, but lost trail of them there, and had to give up the chase.

Superior Telegram: If it is true as alleged that one of the arguments that proved helpful in electing Judge

Dunne was that his election would cause certain investments in city property to greatly shrink in value, it would seem to be a good time for Chicago investors to come up to superior and look up the advantages there.

Chicago Tribune: Socialists are commonly reputed to believe in public ownership. That is supposed to be the pivot of their philosophy. It really isn't. A municipal street car system doesn't attract them much.

A municipal street car system, with the transfer of millions of dollars of property from private to public hands, is to them a mere bagatelle.

It is even merrier than a bagatelle.

It is nothing. Just nothing. What the socialists want is a whole working class state. Anything less than that is too trivial to rouse a socialist intellect to action.

Appleton Post: Since the departure of Secretary of State Hay for Europe for the benefit of his health, the rumor has been more or less persistent that he will not resume the work of his portfolio upon his return. Instead, speculations as to who his successor will be are being indulged in.

BROKE INTO STORE FOR FOURTH TIME

Lowell's Visited by Burglar Again Last Evening—Attempts Made on Two Other Stores.

For the fourth time this winter Lowell's grocery store was burglarized last evening. Officer Bear passing in the rear of the building at half-past ten o'clock, discovered that the same old window in the rear, fortified with a wire screen on the outside and iron bars inside since the last intrusion, had again been tampered with. These obstacles had proved ineffective in stopping his progress, as the imperfectly replaced window-pane, the few pennies missing from the cash drawer, and the three or four nickels taken from the gum-machine testified. Marshal Constable and Officers Brown, Panning, and Cox hurried to the scene and with Officer Bear made a thorough search of the premises, without result. Later discoveries showed that the thief had subsequently crossed River street and attempted to pay the Woodruff and Boston stores a call. Rear windows in both of these places had been broken but something had deterred the marauder from proceeding any further with his operations.

BRIEF BITS OF LOCAL NEWS

Wind Flowers: A bunch of these dainty little spring flowers was left at the Gazette office this afternoon with the compliments of Master Gilbertson who lives on Milton avenue.

Taken to Prison: Sheriff Cochran left for Waupun on the noon train with Elmer and Loren Moffett of Beloit who were sentenced yesterday to terms of 12 and 12 months' imprisonment.

Cattle Were Killed: Five head of cattle on Clint Wadsworth's farm near Evansville were killed by lightning during Monday's storm.

Coming to Janesville: No. 10 lodge of the D. & R. of Milton are planning to visit the Janesville lodge this evening, arriving on the seven o'clock train and leaving on the eleven o'clock.

The Beet Growers: The Milton Beet Growers' association will hold a meeting in that village on Tuesday next.

Crow Bounties: Crow bounties have been paid recently to Olaf Svorn of Avon for 19 heads; to Otto Wahlum of Newark for 26 heads; to Mark Walton of Plymouth for 23 heads; and to John Willie of Fulton for 13 heads.

Hunting Licenses: Evidently the approach of the open spring season for ducks find most Janesville and Rock county farmers provided with their licenses. Only five have been issued this month. The season begins on Monday and lasts until Tuesday, the 25th.

Spooner Is Pictured: C. R. Bosworth, advance man for the Lyman H. Howe moving pictures which are to be shown at the Myers next Saturday afternoon and evening, made his second annual call at the Gazette office this morning. The pictures have been pleasing the patrons of the Pabst theatre, Milwaukee, for the past week and the new film showing the events of President Roosevelt's inauguration has caught the popular fancy, partly on account of the prominence of Senator Spooner, who is seen at the Chief Executive's side in the parade. Mr. Bosworth is a former newspaper man, having been identified with the News at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and acted as special correspondent for the New York World and Journal during the mine troubles in that region a few years ago.

Defendant Discharged: Upon hearing the evidence of the prosecution this morning in the action started against the young man employed in the Electric Light Co.'s plant who was accused of breaking into Lowell's store, Judge Fifield discharged the defendant. The bottom of the state's case fell out when it developed that a telephone bill of several dollars paid in small change by the defendant, supposedly immediately after the robbery, was in reality settled several days before. The only other evidence against the young man was his offer to replace the money that had been taken provided he was spared the disgrace of going to jail, but even this offer was accompanied by protests of innocence.

MANY WORKING AS INDIVIDUALS TODAY

Painters' Strike May Affect Other Trade Unions Before It Is Ended.

This morning many of the forty painters and paper-hangers who walked out yesterday, after the refusal of the master painters to raise the salary from $2.25 per day to $2.50 for a nine-hour day, are busy working on individual jobs. The master painters are advertising for more men and say they intend to run an open shop in the future. There is some talk in labor circles of the trouble extending to other crafts, but nothing definite is known as yet.

MAY HAVE ESTATE FOR C. B. DUNHAM

Adjustment Company Writes for Information Concerning Man Who Once Worked Here.

The International Estate Adjustment of St. Louis, Mo., with offices in the principal cities of the world have written to this city, seeking the address of Clarence B. Dunham, who was for more than half a year employed by the Chicago & North-Western road here as a fireman, and is remembered among railroad men and others in Janesville. The company states that they have for adjustment a claim involving several acres of land in Australia and feel satisfied that from the limited information they have been able to secure concerning Mr. Dunham that he is either directly or indirectly interested in the matter. Mr. Dunham came here about two or two and a half years ago for Salt Lake City, where he entered the employ of the Oregon Short line and is now located in Los Angeles, Cal. He is related to Mrs. Louis Gosseline, who resides at 157 Locust street in this city.

WILL COMMEMORATE THE DAY OF VICTORY

Tomorrow is Appomattox Day—The G. A. R. to Hold Services in Afternoon.

Forty years ago on Sunday, April 9, 1865, General Robert E. Lee surrendered the Confederate army of northern Virginia to the victorious Union army of the Potomac, under the command of General Ulysses S. Grant. It was the virtual ending of the great conflict of a war such as had never been known before in the history of the race. As the sun went down that day, it beheld the passing of an incipient empire, the fading of the stars and bars from the horizon of the nations, the end of a gigantic attempt to destroy the American union. It spoke of a new day, of a new dawn, of the rising of a sun of freedom to shine upon the nation saved and a race delivered. Standing as we do now, looking back over the past, there comes to us all some reflections that it may be well to recall concerning the great conflict and the men who wrought such a work for human civilization. A new generation has come upon the stage of action to whom that conflict is only history. To the men who compose the Grand Army of the Republic, it was a great and trying reality.

W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, G. A. R., of this city propose to celebrate the event in a fitting manner tomorrow, and they have secured Mr. A. E. Matheson to deliver an address. For this purpose, the Congregational church has been secured. Col. Kimberley will have charge of the singing. The time for the meeting is 2:30 p. m. The invitation is cordially extended to the Woman's Relief corps, all old soldiers and the public in general. Do not forget the time and place, and be sure to be present. By order of Past Com.

POWERS' LEAGUE IS READY FOR SEASON

League Janesville Is Not a Member of, Has Arranged for the Opening Games.

On May 4th the Wisconsin State Baseball league, of which organization Janesville is not a member, will open their season for 1905. This was the decision of the future magnates who met in Green Bay recently and settled all definite plans for the coming season. One hundred and ten games will be played during the summer and President Powers is now in Chicago completing the schedule.

Just where the teams will open has not been decided, but it is quite certain that Beloit will play away from home as not to interfere with the college games. It has been decided that La Crosse will play in Oshkosh June 9-10, as a number of commercial travelers from La Crosse are to accompany the team. Freeport will get July 3-4 because of a saengerfest there on those dates, and Wausau will play in Green Bay June 12-13-14-15 because of the state convention of the Eagles. Green Bay will play in Wausau while a saengerfest is going on June 22-23-24-25. It has been decided also that Beloit shall play in Freeport July 2-4 because of a labor affair there on those dates.

President Powers says that the forecasts are posted and that the league is certain to succeed. There will be thirty open dates in the schedule and games with outside teams have been arranged for most of these. Every club in the league has arranged co-teams with independent teams in the vicinity. A number of games will be played in Galena and Clinton.

President Powers has appointed Ploys Beardsley of west rumian, Charles Van Dorn of Green Bay, and Edward Haseman of Oshkosh as umpire and he will meet those men here May 2 to give them instructions. The six teams in the league have signed a full list of players and the men have been notified when to report. La Crosse players have been told to be on hand today. Green Bay players will report on Monday. Freeport will begin practices April 20, Wausau April 18, Oshkosh April 16, and Beloit will open the season with the Hyde Park Athletic club team in Chicago on April 16.

CORRECTS MISTAKE REGARDING PLANS

Communication From a Master Painter Regarding the Exact Situation.

Editor Gazette: Please allow me to correct a statement made by "A Painter" in this morning's Recorder. He says that in the communication sent the master painters they agreed to finish up all contracts taken before April 3d at the old scale of wages. That statement is not true. Nothing was said in their written demand to that effect. They simply demanded an increase of pay on 10 days' notice, which we could not grant after thousands of dollars' worth of contracts had already been taken at the old prices. "A MASTER PAINTER."

There seems to be a misunderstanding between the employing painters and the men, which can only be settled among themselves. The open shop would be the most satisfactory solution for all concerned.—Editor.

TWO CASES OF DIPHTHERIA NOW EXISTING IN CITY

Mrs. Cecelia Goodman Moyer Was Taken Ill While Nursing Niece.—Pronounced Tonsillitis.
On investigation of Health Commissioner Merritt it was discovered that Mrs. Cecelia Goodman Moyer was suffering with diphtheria, contracted while nursing her niece, Mrs. John Kaufmann, who resides at 151 Locust street. The first physician summoned by Mrs. Moyer diagnosed her case as tonsillitis but the second pronounced it diphtheria and called the health authorities' attention to it. Health Officer Merritt concurred in the second physician's opinion and a test made at Madison later substantiated the opinions of both. In the meantime Mrs. Moyer was removed to the Kaufmann home where the little 17-month-old boy is in a critical condition with the malady, and the house quarantined. Mrs. Kaufmann has entirely recovered and Mrs. Moyer who has been very ill is improving rapidly. John Kaufmann is a fireman on the North-Western. The two cases are the only ones known to be existing in Janesville.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Saturday, April 8, 1865.—Effects of the Wind A conductor on the Milwaukee & Prairie du Chien road informs us that while a freight train was crossing Third lake, just east of Madison, Thursday, the wind blew the roof of one of the cars off, carrying it over the telegraph wires and into the lake beyond. The same gentleman said he had fears that the train would be blown from the track at times, so fierce were the blasts.

Petroleum at Bass Creek.

Hanover, Rock County, Wis., April 6th, 1865.

Editors Gazette.—As so much is said about oil nowadays and people are so eager for information concerning it in the Northwestern states, allow me to state that there are three Chicago companies leasing oil territories along Bass Creek from Orford to Afon.

Their prospectors tell me they consider this territory as promising as any in America, from the surface indications and rock formations which they say are identical with those of West Virginia and other localities where oil has been found in great abundance. Also that the prospect for copper, iron, valuable clays, marl, peat, etc., are very flattering. Small quantities of coal have been found in several localities, in digging wells, and it is their opinion that a dip of the Illinois coal fields will be struck at a depth of about three hundred feet. Several gas springs are said to exist in this neighborhood and will be thoroughly tested in a few days. There are several wells here and in this vicinity that have been noted for having a peculiar taste, arising, it is thought, from coal and other minerals.

Many of our citizens gathered the oil on rags several years ago, and found it burnt readily, but as kerosene was little thought of in those days, the matter was dropped without further investigation, as it was supposed oil did not exist outside of Pennsylvania in quantities sufficient to warrant the outlay of capital.

The companies propose to commence operating in a short time. Real estate is looking up; in fact, it is hard to buy at any price, all seem to be inclined to hold on for further developments.

SOCRATES.

P. S.—Will send you a sample of the oil as soon as cold weather ceases.

A ROSE OF NORMANDY

By WILLIAM R. A. WILSON

"Finally the fort was finished and the flag that Renee had given to La Salle floated from the summit. The name of Port St. Louis was given to the fortification, and thus after many defeats it seemed as though some lasting progress had been made toward winning the great west for the French king.

Tonti had recounted faithfully all the adventures of his journey to La Salle and had received warm praise for all that had been accomplished. He described his meeting with Renee at Quebec, the reason assigned by Frontenac for her leaving France, his endeavors for her safety, which he knew was precious in the eyes of his friend, and all the course of their wanderings. La Salle was surprised at learning of her close proximity, but to Tonti's amazement expressed no intention of either going for her himself, or of sending to Michilimackinac to bring her to him. In fact, although he saw a faint flicker of the former light in his eye when he first mentioned her, yet he seemed to show far greater concern over learning the condition of affairs at Quebec than he did to hear the details of their voyage. Tonti attributed this seeming indifference to an attempt upon the part of his comrade to conceal his real feelings, as was his wont whenever anything touched him deeply.

La Salle realized that in order to maintain the advantage already gained and keep in hand the various tribes beneath his control, two things must be accomplished: one, that of making the fort impregnable so that the trust of the savages that he could protect them from the Iroquois would not be lost; the other, that of supplying them with French goods in exchange for their furs. To meet the first conditions more men, ammunition, guns and cannon must be brought from Quebec. To meet the second a trip to that city must be made in person to make the best arrangements possible with his creditors and to provide for the importation of the various goods the Indians demanded. Thus it was that the christening of the fort had hardly been accomplished before the ever-restless spirit of the man urged him to action. He therefore made his plans for leaving the fort in charge of Tonti and making the journey eastward with all possible speed. One thing more, however, was essential. This was that he should be able to report the exploration of the lower Mississippi and take possession of all that vast territory in the name of the king. This must necessarily be accomplished first, so he made ready for the voyage southward. Choosing a sufficient number of men for the expedition, he departed, promising the savages that he would return and instructing them to yield full obedience to Tonti in his absence. The building of the fort having been accomplished with great rapidity, he hoped to be able to make the voyage to the gulf and back in time to reach Quebec before the ships made their autumn voyage to France, so that they would bear the news of his successes to the king.

Accordingly, he paddled away one bright May morning and began the difficult journey that he had long wished to make.

Down the sluggish bosom of the Illinois they passed into the broad expanse of the Mississippi. Soon the mouth of the Ohio was seen and the heat of summer became more and more intense. Here and there they met with bands of savages living on the banks of the mighty river. These were approached with the calmest, the sign of peace, and the white travelers were entertained with feasts and dances, while presents and promises were interchanged. La Salle harangued the listeners, assuring them of the great king's friendship and power, and claiming all the territory through which he passed for his sovereign.

Soon the great stream writhed in sinuous course, many marshes were passed, and the sultry heat of an almost tropical sun rendered the work of paddling very fatiguing. They stopped to rest at one place and visited at a short distance inland the great town of the Tensas. Here Father Membre was shocked to find a temple of the sun, with a sacred fire kept constantly alight. The chief admitted them to his temple as well as his lodge, and eternal friendship with the French was sworn. Thus over many a weary league of tortuous water-course did they pass until the ever-widening river told them of the approach of their journey's end. The channel divided into three, and taking the middle one, they soon found before their wearied eyes the dancing waters of the gulf.

Here they landed, and a column was erected bearing the arms of France, on which was inscribed:

"LOUIS LE GRAND, ROY DE FRANCE ET DE NAVARRE REGNE."

A Te Deum was chanted, and amid the shouts of savage voices, the cries of "Vive le Roi!" from the French, and the firing of guns, La Salle took possession of all the country drained by the great Mississippi and its tributaries under the name of Louisiana, for the French king and his successors. Thus on a summer day did that vast expanse from the Alleghenies to the Rockies, from the unknown country far northward of the great lakes to the gulf, pass to the crown of him who, thousands of leagues away, was engaged in warring the revenues of a great nation on the fringes of a corrupt court and the transient glories of Versailles.

CHAPTER XXV.

IN WHICH POMPON BRINGS HARMONY OUT OF DISCORD.

During La Salle's absence Tonti worked hard to further the welfare of the colony. His first effort was to do away with all possible discord that might arise between the various nations comprising the new settlement. To this end he summoned the various chiefs and spent many hours har-anguishing them as to the benefit to be derived from putting aside all tribal feeling and joining with him in his efforts for the common good. The convincing nature of his arguments, together with the presents distributed, brought about the desired effect. A grand council was formed in which each tribe received recognition according to its size. Simple general regulations governing the community were drawn up and assented to. A uniform price for all skins brought to the French was established. The final settlement of all disputes was left in the hands of La Salle or his representative. The limits of the land apportioned out for cultivation were definitely marked. The space around the base of the fort was all cleared; the final touches to the buildings on top of the rock were completed.

These things having been accomplished, Tonti waited anxiously for the return of La Salle. As the summer began to wane a strange disease broke out among the Indians that did not affect the whites, but which spread with great rapidity. With it came the first murmurs of discontent. Some of the medicine-men after holding a feast determined that the scourge had been sent because of their extreme friendliness with the French. Tonti realized the danger, and determined that the best way to combat this new difficulty was to fight the disease. He accordingly instituted measures looking toward greater cleanliness of the Indian lodges and did what he could to alleviate the sufferings of those already ill. At this juncture he received a letter from the commandant of the fort at Michilimackinac, who had always been friendly to La Salle and his projects. In this he said that the return of many bands of coureurs-de-bois had rendered the position of Renee a very trying one, as her beauty attracted much unwelcome attention and suggested that she be sent, together with two of the nuns, to Fort St. Louis.

Tonti, although knowing that her advent would mean further trials for himself, gladly consented, realizing the need he had just then for nurses, and expecting the return of La Salle shortly, believed it would be agreeable to him to find her there. He accordingly dispatched Pompon with two canoes to bring the party to the fort. He awaited their arrival with impatience. The months that had elapsed since parting with Renee had been months of activity that prevented him from feeling the full hopelessness and regret of his situation. But even amidst his busiest moments would come the thought of her stealing upon him ere he was aware, and he would find himself wondering as to her safety and happiness. He timed the rate of Pompon's journey carefully.

The day dawned on which, if no delay had occurred, they ought to reach their journey's end. Never before had the sun shone so brightly upon the silken folds of the lily banner of France on the staff of the fort. Never before had the sound of birds calling to their mates seemed quite so clear and musical, nor the sight of the awakened happy life at his feet quickened his pulse with so much satisfaction as he realized what had already been accomplished. He fell to wondering if she would approve of everything that he had done and half wished that he had but a few days more in which to do a hundred little things that would make still further for the success of the undertaking. He visited for the twentieth time the commodious lodge within the walls of the fort that had been set aside for the occupation of the women, to see if the place were in good order. He had prepared soft couches for them, formed of layers of mingled leaves and pine needles covered over with a number of furs. The table and chairs, the sawing and making of which he had supervised, were in their places, while the walls were festooned with bunches of wild flowers the Indian children had gathered at his instigation. His final survey saw that everything was ready; it was indeed a fit bower for a forest queen.

About noon from his lofty station he caught sight of two tiny specks far away up the river, and he knew that they were coming. Entering his canoe, he seized his paddles and set out to meet them. His heart was light as he heard the music of the water beneath his prow. He had been able to rescue her again from a position of discomfort and peril; perhaps other opportunities for serving her would arise. He hoped they would, for her service was his delight. He sang as he sped along; sang half-forgotten songs of deeds of war and glory, of fair women and gallant lovers. But he realized that he, alas, could not speak the words that were ready to fall from his lips, words of love, of tenderness, and of devotion that must not be uttered. He schooled his tongue to keep silence, but he knew he could not control his heart, which would beat to the tune of love's own music despite himself.

All animals nature seemed to rejoice with him. The glad screaming of the wild fowl winging their way along the marshy edges of the stream, the cries of quail in the underbrush far away, even the hoarse cawing of the crows from their perches on the blasted limbs of the forest came to his ear in tones of sympathetic gladness. The whole world seemed in gala attire as though to welcome a loved monarch returning to his kingdom.

Soon they drew near, and he saw the flash of Pompon's signaling paddle in the air. He came alongside the canoe containing Renee, and perceived with thankfulness the glow of health on her cheek and the glad welcome of her eye that the words of commonplace greetings exchanged between the two could not express. They soon landed, and the nuns with their fair companion were quickly established in their new house. They set to work at once among the sick, and soon the effect of their presence was felt. The disease died out without further ravages, and again were the French hailed as the deliverers of their allies. The cooling hand and gentle ministrations of these angels of mercy procured for the two priests who came with them a respectful hearing, and soon quite a goodly number of the savages began regular attendance at mass. Renee's quiet dignity and queenly beauty won from the redmen their respect and admiration as for some supernatural creature, which soon developed into a devotion unheard of before among them.

When buying loose coffee or anything your grocer happens to have in his bin, how do you know what you are getting? Some queer stories about coffee that is sold in bulk, could be told, if the people who handle it (grocers), cared to speak out.

Could any amount of mere talk have persuaded millions of housekeepers to use the leader of all package coffees for over a quarter of a century, if they had not found it superior to all other brands in Purity, Strength, Flavor and Uniformity?

Lion Coffee,

This popular success of LION COFFEE can be due only to inherent merit. There is no stronger proof of merit than continued and increasing popularity.

EDGERTON WANTS

Business Men Petition the St. Paul Railway Company—Other News
from Tobacco City.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Edgerton, April 8.—A petition to the C. M. & St. P. Railway company for a new depot at this station has been made out and signed by the business men of this city. The one now in use is inadequate and its dilapidated appearance belittles the business of the city. Many towns much smaller in size, doing less business through the channels of the railway company than Edgerton, have more convenient and up-to-date structures to accommodate the traveling public and to house the goods shipped by rail. That the railway company will see fit to heed the petition is ultimately expected.

Surnames and Geographical Designations Consisting of Only a Single Character.

It must be very convenient to possess a surname consisting of a single letter of the alphabet. The Paris papers mention the singular case of a certain Marie whose surname consists of the one letter B.

Many years ago there was a shop kept in the Rue de Louvain, in Brussels, by Theresa O. and there is a Mme. O living with her two children at Molenbeck, a suburb of the Belgian capital. In the Rue de l'Angle, in the same commune, lives a Mr. O (with a circumflex accent), who is no relative of Mme. O.

In 1866, among the Belgian recruits was a young man named O. who could not write, and signed his name with a cross; yet he could so easily have learned to write his own name! In the department of Somme there is a village called Y; in the Zuyder Zee there is a bay called Y, and Amsterdam has the river Y.

In China there is a large town of the same brief name. In the Chinese province of Houan there is a city called U, and in France there is a river, and in Sweden a town, rejoicing in the name of A.

Castor Oil for Mummies.
M. Berthelot, secretary of the Louvre museum, believes that he has discovered the secret of the agent used in embalming in ancient Egypt. After a laborious examination of the sarcophagi of the fifth and sixth dynasties, which date back as far as 3500 B. C., M. Berthelot has come to the decision that the oil employed was simply castor oil, such as is still used in Egypt, which has undergone some oxidation, but retained during the long period its preservative qualities.—London Telegraph.
